

CHAGRIN VALLEY CAMERA CLUB

November 2010 Newsletter

Hi. It's November and we've had our first snow. (Meter off a gray card, use the Zone System, or overexpose.)

Our last two meetings were enjoyable and well-attended, but we always have room for more. Our October 19 Competition was titled "Fauna" and we had an interesting collection of critters of all kinds. The results are shown below. We had 38 images from 19 members. Thanks to Irwin Schafer for refreshments.

On November 2, Bruce Cline, Professor of Photography, Lakeland Community College spoke on "Learning to Give a Meaningful Critique." After Bruce's opening remarks, we broke up into several small groups, each with a set of prints to critique. We then circled up and each group presented its comments on each of its photos, with the rest of us adding our observations. Bruce then added his thoughts as to each print. Thanks to Randy Stern & Bob Feldman for refreshments.

We also had a field trip on October 23, led by Wally Adler. We went to Holden Arboretum for photos of fall color.

Tuesday, November 16: Competition "Architecture" Inside or out. Remember, projected images should be emailed to Errol by this Thursday, Nov. 11. (Refreshments, Al Perzeski)

Saturday, November 20: Field Trip. For something a bit different, Wally is leading us to the Akron Museum of Art, to view "Who Shot Rock & Roll: A Photographic History, 1955 to Present." The exhibition features 163 works of photography and eight videos by over 100 photographers and videographers, including Richard Avedon, Anton Corbijn, Diane Arbus, Annie Leibovitz and many others. Bring your camera for some interesting interior architecture shots. (Sorry, that'll be too late for our Architecture competition, but they will qualify for our field trip competition on May 24th.) Meet at the Beachwood Library at 9:00 a.m. to car-pool. As always, Wally has planned an interesting location for lunch.

Tuesday, December 7: Peoples Choice-President's Cup Competition "My Favorite 2010 Photo(s)" Shot this year, prints only. (Refreshments, Audrey Halpern). Details to follow.

Tuesday, January 11: Charles Mintz, "The Album Project"
(Refreshments, Leonard Pomplas)

Tuesday, January 25: Competition "Night AND Motion" Couple nighttime photography with a sense of movement. (Refreshments, Les Greenberg)

All evening meetings are at the Beachwood Library, 25501 Shaker Blvd. (NW corner of Richmond Rd. and Shaker Blvd.) at 7:00 p.m.

Membership: Welcome to new member Michael Anne (Mikie) Johnson.

Refreshments: We have two available dates for refreshment providers: April 26 and May 24. Please drop me an email, give me a call, or let me know at the next meeting.

Exhibitions:

University Hospitals Annual Juried Art Show for Employees and Volunteers, through January 7. Congratulations to Kathie Smith, who had two photos accepted. You'll find a large number of interesting photo entries, as well as other media. Best reason I can think of for visiting a hospital!
